ProCamp is a professional, limited entry training camp. It is not a recreational camp. The program features integrated basketball and strength training sessions, generally held in the morning, with consecutive on court and weight room work.

The ProCamp fee includes staff, national and international guest coaches, use of facilities, insurance coverage, a monthly strength program and technical equipment.

From Monday to Friday, basketball and strength training are part of the daily routine, while Saturday morning is dedicated to the weekly guest coach.

ProCamp is partnered with NIKE and Wilson. The 2026 edition will host coaches from the NBA, NCAA and Italian basketball, with announcements released progressively through ProCamp official channels.

Access to the Full Program can also be requested during the camp.

Selected players may be chosen for the ProCamp Selection, which will compete in games against NCAA Colleges.

Each athlete is independent in managing off-court time. The partner hotel is optional and accommodation choice is flexible. Internal transportation is facilitated by the organization and through collaboration among participants.
